

Cost of removing dumped cars

Removing dumped cars from private roads in Kenley can cost anywhere from £70 to £200 per vehicle, plus potential storage fees. You'll need to contact the council to investigate and potentially remove the vehicle if it's deemed abandoned.

Here's a more detailed breakdown:

Costs Involved:

- Investigation and Removal:
  - Some councils charge a fee for investigating and removing a vehicle, such as a non-refundable administration fee of £150 per vehicle.
  - Other councils may charge a fee for the initial inspection, such as £100 per vehicle.
  - Some councils charge a fee of £70 for investigating and removing the vehicle.
  - Other councils charge a fee of £200 for removal.
- Storage Fees:
  - If the vehicle is taken into storage, there may be daily storage fees, such as £40 per day.
  - Some councils charge a base fee of £60 and an additional storage cost of £7.14 per day.
- Other Costs:
  - You may incur costs if the vehicle is deemed not abandoned, even if you've paid for the inspection.
  - If you choose to remove the vehicle yourself, you'll need to pay a recovery company, but you do so at your own risk.
  - You should document every step you take as proof of following the correct process.
  - Removed vehicles should be stored for a minimum of 28 days, and any monetary value of the vehicle after costs should be returned to the registered keeper.
